

Explanatory Note

As our design element, the circle is mainly to highlight the flexibility of the building, and also to make use of the circular controllable geometry to retain the current vegetation and terrain as much as possible. On the other hand, it also forms the intention of countless circles of different sizes to dance, and when they end up, our children's heart and mind are healed. This is our wish, If architecture can give people hope, this is the most glorious moment of architecture. We are trying to create an architecture that not only belongs to the nature, but also brings vibrant natural life to every user.